

SPLITTING BY GROUPS. ARE DIFFERENT GROUPS INVOLVED IN DIFFERENT WAYS ?

The simplest way to compare groups is to make separate causal maps for each group (e.g. men/women, project A/B, or by age group), and visually compare them. This allows you to identify common patterns and context-specific factors.

This is useful, for example, for understanding how a project impacts different groups.

Related

- chapter intro
- Formatting your map \(recipe\)